Crack folder 3) Enjoy Radiotherapy in the treatment of cancer. Radiotherapy is part of the complex management of cancer. It provides symptom relief and in selected cases prolongs survival. Often, radiotherapy is the only curative treatment available in the management of localised disease, but the majority of cases are treated with palliative intent. It is an important treatment in management of the patient with incurable disease, and as the majority of patients with early stage disease are cured by primary surgery, radiotherapy is needed as part of the management of the disease. However, radiotherapy has a number of disadvantages, including physical and psychological morbidity, secondary malignancies and radiation-induced complications. It has been implicated in the development of cancer, and even low dose exposure may be of some risk. Despite these drawbacks, radiation therapy remains the mainstay of treatment for most tumours, and is the only treatment modality which provides disease-free survival in the majority of patients with early stage cancers.

1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a clamping structure for holding a workpiece in position for machining the workpiece. 2. Description of the Prior Art A conventional clamping device is of the clamping structure comprising a fixed support and a movable support which are so disposed as to overlap with each other and to move in parallel relationship with each other, a plurality of joggle assemblies being provided on the fixed support and the movable support for connecting the fixed support and the movable support in a manner to be relatively displaceable in parallel relationship with each other, the plurality of joggle assemblies comprising a fixed member and a movable member. However, since the conventional clamping device is constructed in a manner such that the joggle assemblies are fixedly provided on the fixed support and the movable support and a clearance is provided between the fixed support and the movable support at the joggle assemblies to allow the parallel displacement of the fixed support and the movable support in relation to each other, the joggle assemblies are liable to be displaced from their proper positions by the impact of the workpiece against the joggle assemblies at the clamping operation and the workpiece is liable to be damaged or broken by the impact of the joggle assemblies. It is, therefore, a principal object of the present invention to provide an improved clamping structure for a workpiece having a fixed support and a movable support to be relatively displaceable in parallel relationship with each other 82157476af
